MANAGER SYMPHONISTS WILL HEAR THEIR FATE DECIDE

Minors are barred from this Long Island City courtroom while the widow of Albert Snyder and her former sweetheart face the bar of justice. Justice Scudder also added that "there will be no picnic baskets either." Arrangements have been made to accommodate 127 press representatives. Photographers are barred although artists are permitted to make sketches. Court officials are prepared to handle the big rush daily for the few seats allotted to spectators. It is one of the most noted death trials in many years. (See Story on Page 1.)

U.S. LEADERS ON SMITH'S REPLY

The statement made is in line with that idea.

DR. J. H. TALLMADGE, ROOT, Executive Secretary, Massachusetts Federation of Churches.—The explicit statement of Governor Smith, that his loyalty to the Roman Catholic Church is to the American Constitution are not incompatible, confirms a study I made of official Catholic utterances. This same Mexican question figured in the Marshall-Smith exchange. Marshall challenged Governor Smith to state his position with regard to Mexico, and the Governor replied in these words:

BIG PARTY

Washington, April 18 (A.P.)—The appearance of Mrs. Coolidge on the grounds of the White House early in the annual Easter egg-rolling festival for children of ten and under today nearly broke up the party. The children gave up everything to swarm about her.

Mrs. Coolidge had brought Rebecca, the White House pet raccoon, and was forced to carry the animal because of the crowd which quickly gathered.

Bright weather drew a large number of children and last year's record of 48,000 attendance appeared likely to be broken.

An army of children with vast stores of ammunition—colored egg-rollers, hard-boiled eggs and eggs of every description—felt the urge and there was every indication that by nightfall many tired and dirty little warriors would drift away with the Sandman without waiting for bedtime stories.

Repairs of the White House roof had threatened to prevent this annual treat, but the President and Mrs. Coolidge saw to it that the work was blocked off in order that the frolic might take place as usual.

From 9 o'clock until 3:30 the White House grounds belonged to the children and only those adults needed as guardians were accorded any rights within the estate.

'TWICE' SENTENCED TO DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

New York, April 18 (A.P.)—Francis Caruso, who was convicted of the murder of Dr. Caesar Petroski, was sentenced to die some day during the week of June 8 by County Judge Alonzo C. McLaughlin today.

Caruso actually was sentenced twice. When he appeared in court he heard the sentence read to him and shook his head when asked if he had anything to say. When his attorney appeared the sentence was again pronounced.

Caruso was tried for the slaying of the doctor he said he thought had killed his son, Joe, 6 years old, by administering an anesthetic when the boy was ill with diphtheria.

EULOGY DREW
O'CONNELL TO PRIESTHOOD

Far down in the nooks of the Cathedral of the Holy Cross in Boston, nearly half a century ago, knelt William Henry O'Connell, a youth who but a short time previous had received his degree of Bachelor of Arts from Boston College.

He was there by chance. Walking along Washington street, seeking, perhaps, some inspiration bearing upon his choice of a life's work, he had paused finally before the great stone entrance and wide-opening doors beneath the Cross. Many people were entering; he joined them.

Within the funeral of the late rector was being held. Archbishop Williams in person was speaking the eulogy. Humbled, upon his knees, the youth O'Connell drank in the simple, impressive words of the sermon—the mission of the priest, coming and going between God and God's people.

The next day Archbishop Williams received a caller in the person of young O'Connell. The youth offered himself to the priesthood of the Archdiocese of Boston, and was accepted. Little dreamed O'Connell then that in the future years he would be associated with that great churchman in the government of the diocese who knelt to him in his ring, would some day be chosen for the Purse and as William, Cardinal O'Connell, become dean of the American Hierarchy.

OFFICER SLAYS REVERE, DAWES SNAPPING DOG IN REVERE PATRIOTS' DAY FEATURES

A snapping dog which for four days has terrorized children and adults in Revere, only to disappear from sight, but which today was not fast enough after biting two children, met his doom in the roar of the first shotgun ever used by Revere police to kill an animal.

Patrolman Maxey Rogers, armed with a 12-gauge Winchester automatic, met the dog's leap for his throat with a blast of the gun that hurled the dog through the door of a house.

The dog, an Airedale of unknown ownership, appeared first in the guise of a terrorist last week and several reports of his snapping were made to the police. Officers hunted all over Revere for him on half a dozen occasions, but each time he disappeared.

Today he entered a Florence avenue house, bit chairs, doors, curtains and window sills, then drove the occupants out, snapping himself through a window.

While Officer Rogers, in answer to a telephone call, was speeding to the scene, the dog bit a boy and a girl. When the officer appeared the dog lunged at him, but Rogers shot just in time.

Held for Rhode Island Murder
Pawtucket, R. I., April 18 (A.P.)—David Ribeiro, thirty, was arraigned in the District Court in Central Falls today on a charge of first degree murder. Ribeiro is accused of killing Antonio Almeida, twenty-eight, in Valley Falls, firing five shots into his body. He was adjudged probably guilty and held without bail for the grand jury.

REVEALED IN BOOK

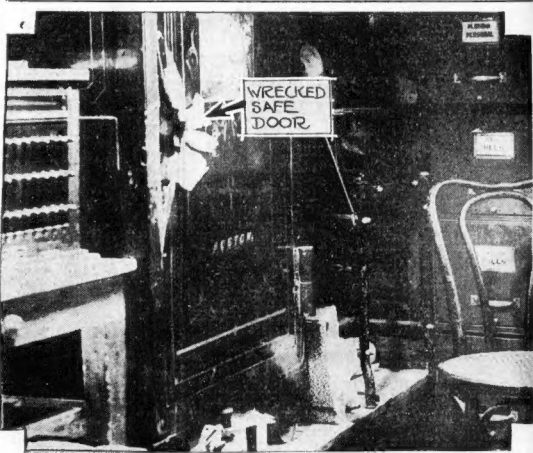

This interesting milestone in the life of the Cardinal is revealed by the Rev. John E. Sexton, D. D., professor of history at St. John's Seminary, in a book entitled, "Cardinal O'Connell's Biographical Sketch," released by the Pilot Publishing Company.

The book is offered to the Cardinal as a souvenir of the silver jubilee of his episcopate. First planned as a short review of the outstanding events of the episcopate of His Eminence, the book, in the words of its author, "grew in the making" until it has become a work of approximately 160,000 words.

Probably no biographer of a living subject ever was faced with a task so colossal in the preparation of it.

Cherry and Walnut Layer Cake Easy

Now that the Easter purple and fine linen is off our minds, timely tips for the home table come into their own again—led by today's cherry and walnut layer cake.

This is really an extremely simple cake to make, and I'm not even going to apologize for the three eggs. They're so reasonable now that I'm going to bring out the Cook of Redwood I've been anxious to offer you while our prices indulged in extravagance.

Here's the how of this fine-grained, beautifully-textured cake:

CHERRY AND WALNUT LAYER CAKE

One-half cup butter, one cup milk, two cups sugar, three cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, three eggs, one-half teaspoonful salt.

Cream the butter, add sugar and egg yolks. Add flour and salt with baking powder and mix until the mixture is stiff. Bake in layers in oven 375 degrees Fahrenheit about 15 minutes.

ICING

One and one-half cups maple syrup, one cup white, 24 marshmallows, one cup chopped nut meats, one cup cherries. Boil maple syrup until it spins a thread. Drop in the six marshmallows quartered and pour on the heated egg white, beating continuously until it will hold its shape on the back of a spoon. Add three or four large spoonfuls of icing to the cherries to make a filling. For the top and sides of cake.

Milk Good for Colds

One of our most common mistakes is our lingering belief in the old adage, "Feed a cold and starve a fever."

The modern doctor advises us to say: "If you feed a cold, you will have a fever, especially during the first stages of the cold."

He goes on further to say that at the start of a cold a simple diet is best. But after the fever has gone the diet should be more nourishing to build up and repair the body so that it can fight off the germs causing the cold. It's a good plan to supplement the regular meals with milk and eggs served in any of the innumerable side number of simple ways.

One of the best of these is a chocolate milk shake which can be made with either a cocoa paste in the proportion of one cup of cocoa, one cup of sugar, a dash of salt and two cups of water cooled together until smooth or with a ready-prepared chocolate sauce. One tablespoon of the paste or sauce shaken with one

Chocolate Ice Box Cake

Line a mould with lady fingers or with thin sponge cake slices. Melt $\frac{1}{4}$ a pound of sweet chocolate in a double boiler. Add 2 tablespoons of water and the beaten yolks of three eggs (they're so reasonable right now). Cook slowly by unit thick and smooth, stirring all the time. When cold fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. House the mould in cold water, fill and set away for 24 hours. When serving cover with whipped cream.

cup of chilled milk makes a deliciously nourishing drink. If you haven't a shaker, a glass preserving jar with cover tightly adjusted will serve the purpose nicely. Pounded eggs on cream tarts are doubly nourishing and easily prepared. Pour three-fourths of a cup of hot, seasoned milk over a slice of generously buttered toast, place on a hot plate, and serve immediately. A dash of pepper, or a little chopped parsley will make the dish more attractive.

Fudge Cake

Three-fourth cup butter, 1 cup sugar, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup of eggs, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup milk, 2 cups flour, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder, white of 2 eggs, 2 ounces cooking chocolate, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Cream butter, add sugar and egg yolks. Beat until light, then add milk and flour, and beat alternately with milk to the first mixture. Add chocolate melted over hot water, vanilla, and white of eggs, beaten stiff. Turn into two paper lined and buttered 8-inch square pans and bake in a moderate oven. Put between and on top fudge frosting.

Big dividend for little boy

"I take great pride in my own excellent bread," writes Mrs. Agnes Cain of Dorchester, "but have learned I can get the same wholesome, superior quality, with the same home-like flavor by asking for Bond Bread."

Mrs. Cain thinks that for 4-year-old Edward, who appears above, it has been a "Gold Bond of Good Health," paying a high dividend.

Just 8 years ago, 6405 Boston housewives brought samples of their home-baked bread to Tremont Temple to show us the kind of bread they wanted for themselves and their children. Being frankly copied from the best of these 6405 loaves, Bond Bread quickly became Boston's most popular bread.

Why is it that after 8 years of unparalleled popularity, Bond Bread now enjoys an even greater demand than ever before in its history? Because day after day for 8 long years, Bond Bread has been uniformly

California Prune Cake

One-half pound of prunes soaked and steamed till tender, then cooled, pitted and coarsely chopped, is the first requirement for the cake. For the batter, the following ingredients will be needed: Two and one-half cups of flour, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoonful of baking soda, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoonful of soda, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoonful of salt, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoonful of nutmeg, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoonful of cinnamon, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup of sugar, 1 cup of thick sour cream, 2 eggs, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup of soft butter. Sift the first six ingredients together, then add the prunes and sugar to them and mix well. Next stir in the sour cream and eggs well beaten, and finally add the butter, which should be almost melted, but not hot. Pour into a greased square pan and bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees F., for an hour, or longer, as necessary.

When nearly finished, sprinkle the surface with granulated sugar and place at the top of the oven to glaze. Delicious cut when still warm for afternoon tea or served with whipped cream as dessert.

Orange Salad Great This Time of Year

Separate three oranges into sections, allowing three sections to each salad. Split the sections enough to drop in a teaspoon of warm, mild honey and small bits of crisp marshmallow. Top with a boiled, creamy dressing and garnish with a maraschino cherry. Honey is especially valuable in combining fruits in salads, as it blends with the fruits quickly and easily and of course is eaten in a form which requires no further action by the digestive system before assimilation.

TO TAKE MILDEW out of leather rub paraffine into it until well absorbed. The polish carefully with a cloth.

"GREEDY GURGLER"

ARE HEARD IN THE LAND! Brand new concentrated orange juice makes best ever drink. Makes me with I had a sick like a strafe. Add a dash to steers ale or lemonade or use straight for oranges. You can't tell from genuine wine fresh fruit juice. 35c a bottle.

WHEN IN BEANTOWN, buy baked beans. Wonder if you've ever tried my pet brand. Honest Injun, even Grandpa can't tell they're not home baked. 25c. So much food saved. Good old-fashioned flavor preserved.

ITS PANTRY COMPANION is plum brown bread in a tin overcoat. Opener attached. Imagine steaming hot, honey brown bread in just a jiffy. 20c. A great compliment-getter. Everyone says, "Yum, Yum! Haven't had any home-made brown bread for ages."

TOP YOUR CHOP suey with crumbly fried noodles. Kid's eat 'em like potato chips. Like them in the lunch boxes, too. 35c. Read Chinese Chop Suey recipe on request. 4 portions or for 100.

A MEAL FOR A CENT and a half. Crunchy new cereal comes in patty shape. Spread with butter. Put in for a minute or two and lo-luscious breakfast or luncheon dish. Dash of milk completes the meal. Tip for the Calorie Counter and Budgeter. For the World-to-Well, too.

RASPBERRY JUICE impregnated in rich gelatin crystals gives faintest of desserts. Oh, so good! Made in an instant. Tempting enough for most capricious taste. Light and delicate, but nutritious, too. Gelatin comes in other fruit flavors equally as delicious. Two boxes for 25c.

YOUR CHILD WON'T ACQUIRE a complex against soup if you serve it with alphabet macaroni. It charms as well as nourishes. Bottom grocer carries a brand of finest pasta imported from Lyons, France. Also macaroni, spaghetti elbows, and noodles of the same brand. It's a big package.

IF IT IS INDIGESTION that is troubling you, let me tell you about some vegetable peppin tablets that bring quick relief. Drive away sour stomach and gas after eating, too. 25c a bottle, by mail 30c.

FISH, FLESH AND FOWL are all grist for my column mill. I scuffle around whether or not trying to find things that will interest and help you. Here's hoping you will find at least one item on this list you will want to know more about. Just check the column, clip it out, attach that necessary name and address and mail to me with a loose stamp for complete information.

Faithfully yours,
Martha Lee

Salt Needed for Health

Salt—so necessary for the formation of gastric juice without which our food could not digest—gets into our food by two means—Nature and the salt shaker. Nature puts a little salt into meat, corn, vegetables and water, but it is not enough for our daily needs. In the olden days in Holland, criminals were condemned to be fed only on water and bread made without salt, virtually a death warrant. In Arabia the offering of salt to the guest is equivalent to saying that the guest is safe in the Arab's keeping. If the little attention is omitted, beware!

Pure salt, like pure sugar, pure butter and fresh eggs, is essential to health. Are you as particular about the indispensable food as you should be, and demand the password of purity on the package you purchase? The brand of salt you'll find in the Martha Lee Kitchen is made under the most sanitary conditions. No salt is purer. It is essential for you to season your food properly with this salt because it is so white without a particle of bitter wine flavor.

Wouldn't you like to have me send you an interesting book on the romance of salt, which also contains delicious recipes for candy, salad dressing, salted nuts, ice cream and other desserts?

PHYSICAL condition is a matter of good habits, proper training, lots of rest, plain foods and plenty of milk. Many athletes use four glasses of milk a day—others more.

NEW ENGLAND DAIRY AND FOOD COUNCIL

BETTY ALDEN'S SOCIETY COMMENT

Boston Smart Set Out in Glad Array; Riding Club Show Starts Tonight

"THE AVENUE" was gay and gorgeous with the annual Easter Parade. Sky at the brightest and air at the clearest—fathers and mothers and all the young housewife dutifully "going to church" and afterwards strolling on Boston's aristocratic Commonwealth avenue. The Herbert Jaques family, five strong, was one of the handsomest groups on the Avenue after attending Easter's celebration at Trinity. Mr. and Mrs. Jaques had with them three children, their tall young son, Herbert, Jr., and the small Misses Elizabeth and Alice Jaques. Mrs. Jaques was handsome in severe tailleur of golden tan.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT TREAT PAINE, worshipping within Trinity's hallowed walls, added dignity and beauty to the Easter parade. Mrs. Paine was as usual in glittering black, her smart chaplains having the merest suggestion of white and a gardenia at her shoulder, repeating the note of creamy white against dense black. Mrs. Theodore Frothingham, Jr., in deep blue, was the smart young matron smartly arrayed yet severe, too. Mrs. Frothingham is looking charming after a visit South. At Alton, I believe, where Boston's select is always so finely represented.

THE JOSEPH WOODS families, both the Seniors and the Juniors, worshipped at St. Paul's Cathedral and then joined the parade of nobles on the Avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Woods and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Woods (Friedrich Pollard), were in one distinguished group. The charming Mrs. "Joe" Woods is always a treat to the eye, and distinct so in her helmet of deep blue, and her straight-line wrap with its enormous cascade of Easter posies.

THE TWO LOVELY daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Holton of Beacon street as they did the church parade with their parents were charming to behold. Miss Eleanor Holton was in beige and Miss Rosemond Holton in a black velvet suit frock. Mrs. Charles A. Coddiger, Jr., the former Miss Allen Jones, was in an attractive young matron set, worshipping at Trinity. She's a Junior League leader and a Vincent Club leader, this little young woman, whose Easter array was a becoming wrap and hat of golden brown.

MISS ELIZABETH PENNO, daughter of Mrs. L. Carter Penno, as in blue with an enormous cascade of fragrant sweet peas at her shoulder, Mrs. Ross Whitaker, the former Miss Mary Murray, chose for the Avenue parade a simple tailleur of black and white cheviot. Miss Helen Bagley was a pointed for scarf with her cheviot suit and Miss Mabel Leitch Holten's black wrap was brilliantly set off with a Persian silk scarf. Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Wadsworth were in the throng. Mrs. Wadsworth in navy blue suit, her small hat of beige and her scarf a handsome pointed fox.

THE THREE THOMAS sisters, the Misses Rosemond, Elizabeth and Katherine Thomas, were an attractive trio in the brilliant April sunshine. Mrs. Karl Adams of Beacon street and her attractive daughter, Miss Katherine Adams, paraded after church. Miss Adams wore a becoming affair of violet, her wrap and enormous chaplains of the identical shade. Mrs. Adams wore a tailleur of black with small black hat.

MISS BETTY BIRD is riding a handsome and mettlesome bay this evening at the Riding Club Show, named "Kodak" in several classes. Miss Lydia Lund, on her tall and spirited "gunrock," and Miss Alice Stuart riding a black-stepping chestnut down the lists under the little red O. H. are two of the younger riders of the Riding Club who have spent many hours schooling their horses for the jumps and the various classes. The two shows, tonight and tomorrow night, provide a fine spectacle of sport for the holiday weekend.

THE RICH SIMPLICITY of eyes, tall white satin, unadorned, for the bride, and delicately tinted frocks and hats for her attendants—back for Miss Eliza Bacon's marriage with Hugh Deane McKinnon an attractive bridal picture for nuptial celebration at the home of the Francis W. Bacon's in Brookline. The bride's gown was simplicity itself, with fingertip sleeves and the long and slender court train of accepted bridal tradition. Her veil was a froth of tulle, caught to the head capulle with ornate blossoms. It was the "something old" for the pretty golden-haired bride, having been worn by her mother on her wedding day.

VERY FRENCH in their past, V blues and pinks were the attendants, ladies stepped down from a Fragonard panel, in their slippers and shoes of soft gray, frocks of two-toned blue crepe, small hats of blue silk with arm bouquets of silver sweet peas. Mrs. Milton Baldrige was house mother, and Miss Ellen Whitridge of Baltimore and Mrs. Philip Camp of Buffalo the bride attendants. Francis W. Bacon, Jr., brother of the bride, was best man. The Alliance takes away to another environment a very attractive young matron, one belonging to the lively and energetic Junior League set that figures so prominently in the social doings of the town.

FIELD OF 188 READY TO START IN MARATHON

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

Malcewicz Joins the Millionaire's Club

By Jack Conway

"DON'T think Johnny Miles, Clarence DeMar and the rest of those Marathon runners can hold a candle to Joe Malcewicz, the wrestler, when it comes to feats of endurance," declared Mr. Boston, as he gave us the inside angle on the B. A. A. grind today. "I have just been talking with Joe," went on the veteran. "You know he is in town to wrestle Pat McGil, Irish champion, in a finish bout, best two falls out of three, at the New Boston Arena tomorrow night under the direction of Paul Bowser."

Malcewicz is a very clean-cut looking fellow when you meet him dressed up for the Tremont street parade. He looks like anything but one of the greatest wrestlers the world has ever known. He is a mild, easy spoken young man. He hardly looks his 190 pounds. "Since Malcewicz made Joe Stecher jump out of the ring at the Arena a year ago last March, he has been the busiest wrestler in the world. He has engaged in 130 bouts, an average of three contests a week. The bouts have each lasted an average of one hour and a half which would have given Joe 11 days of continuous wrestling if it had been possible for him to have taken on one opponent after another."

"During this time Malcewicz has traveled 38,000 miles. He has done some record breaking stunts when it has come to gliding over the rails. "One night Joe won a bout at the Grand Opera House, grabbed a midnight train for New York, got an early morning train out of New York for Galveston, Texas. He boarded into Galveston an hour before starting time. After the contest, he hopped into another Pullman and rushed to Cleveland, arriving just in time for another bout."

"The wrestlers are not obliged to do as much training as the boxers. This is because they make more frequent appearances in action and to keep in better condition. "Stranger Lewis, who tackles Abe Kaplan in another big bout on the card at the Arena tomorrow night, will top off his training with a comparatively easy bout at Syracuse tonight. He will arrive here in the morning fit for Kaplan."

"These minor bouts keep the old overhead down and act as real training tests. The shots in the small cities and towns usually net headlines like Lewis and Malcewicz $1,000. They then step into Boston, Chicago, Kansas City, Tulsa, New York and Los Angeles for the big dough. "Paul Bowser is the man that Malcewicz has picked up close to $100,000 since he made Stecher do a Charley Faddock. Joe is on the way to becoming a millionaire."

"DON'T think there is another athlete in the world, with the possible exception of Babe Ruth, who draws week after week like Lewis. Everywhere the Stranger shows he is greeted by packed houses. This is because he is a great showman as well as a brilliant wrestler. He gives the crowd a thrill even when pitted against a very ordinary opponent. He has the happy faculty of making the other fellow look good and early time as the champion figure he should pull the curtain down. "Paul Bowser must have great faith in the popularity of wrestling in Boston to pit Lewis against Kaplan and Malcewicz against McGil on the same card. Then I understand there is another tussle in which Alexander Garavito will take Harry Stevens. "Paul must be paying plenty of money for an attraction like this. He will require a capacity house to pay off the wrestlers, let alone make any profit. Maybe attract one like the one booked for the holiday explain why Bowser has become the foremost wrestling promoter in this land of the millionaires."

Ryder Primes B. C. 2-Mile Team for Penn Relays

Boston College's two-mile relay team will start training this afternoon for the Penn relays at Philadelphia April 29 and 30. Although the Easter vacation has started at the Heights, there will be no rest for the team. "I expect we'll have him progress out every day this week. The State mentor is anxious to continue his winning streak in the relay team. Since 1915 the Eagles have won at least one title at the annual affair. Last season, the distance medley bonus, it they brought back to the team. McKillop, Ingelsby, McKillop and Cavanaugh composed the quartet that won for B. C. Only Cavanaugh is lost to the relay team this year. He was great college medley and if Coach Ryder and him back he would enter his team in the distance medley once more. The Eagles have two legs on the cup, which goes to the winner of this event three times.

'PURES' ON WAY FROM COAST

First Delegation from West Leaves for National Title Bouts Here Next Week

The first delegation of amateur boxers headed for the national championships at the Boston Arena, Monday and Tuesday nights, April 23 and 24, have left San Francisco and will spend the next four days on Pullmans. They are expected to arrive in Boston on Wednesday night. The delegation is headed by Coach W. J. "Doc" McNamee, who is accompanied by a number of boxers from the West Coast. The delegation is expected to be a strong one, with several boxers who are considered favorites for the national title.

De Mar Seeks Fifth Victory in B. A. A. Marathon

What is, with one exception, the largest field ever to start in a B. A. A. Marathon will be sent away on the 26 miles, 385 yards Hopkinton-to-Boston grid at noon tomorrow.

As a rule to the official entry list, 188 runners have been bitten by the Marathon bug. Unofficially the count is 189, as Peter Foley, the 73-year-old veteran, has announced that he will run on the far corner of the B. A. A. Marathon.

The B. A. A. will not accept better a man who was running a Marathon on the Johnny Miles was born.

The record number of entries for the B. A. A. Marathon was set in 1928, when 190 runners started the race. The record was broken in 1929, when 191 runners started the race. The record was broken again in 1930, when 192 runners started the race.

GENE TITNEY World's Heavyweight Champion

"I'll be champion in fact as well as name," says Gene—Suggested elimination tourney as he wants best opponent available.

It always was my thought that a champion should prove himself such, by fighting and winning—or get knocked off the throne seat and so make way for a real king of fists king.

In the years when possession of the heavyweight crown was just a dream of mine, I made a vow—which was this: "If ever I do become champion, I'll be the one in fact—merely in name, I won't be an idle or a fictitious champion. And I won't pick sweat. I'll fight every man who is rated as a real menace to my reign, and either whip him or have my championship called in question or go down to defeat in failure."

When I whipped Jack Dempsey in Philadelphia the world seemed full of fighters who wanted to take a crack at me. Of the dozen men who were conspicuous at the time, I heard most of them looked like "setups."

If I had merely desired to be a sham champion and merely used the pretense of a champion for financial gain, I could have taken on a half dozen of those fellows in rapid succession and, without any danger of defeat, made a fortune for myself. But such an act was, in my opinion, not a thing of honor, nor a thing of fairness. It wouldn't have been playing fair with the public which supports the game.

GENE READY FOR BEST.

And so, when I made the contract to fight under the title of a champion, I did not pick my man. I expressed no preference. I just insisted on the elimination tourney limit. My view at the time.

"Every fellow in that group of a dozen thinks he's entitled to a crack at me. Each has a legion of followers who think he's the best man. The only way to absolutely determine who is the greatest of the group—the most formidable of them all—is to put on an elimination tourney. And I'll agree to fight the winner."

So far as I can discover, that's the first time in heavyweight ring history that any champion ever did that. John L. Sullivan picked his man, and so did Jim Corbett. But Fitzsimmons refused to give Jim a return match, and elected to race. That looked like a "soft one" in the opinion of Jim Jeffries. But I went against the world by whittling it down.

Jeffries didn't do any dodging—but

CORCORAN NEW HANDICAPPER

Fred Corcoran of Albany has been appointed handicapper for the Massachusetts Golf Association by Chairman A. W. Robinson of the State Handicap Commission.

The chairman has arranged to give Dan Hogan, veteran State handicapper, who has been ill for some time, a leave of absence for one year. During that time Corcoran will serve as handicapper.

Corcoran will have his new duties April 27, when the Massachusetts Golf Association holds a handicap year open at Wollaston.

1,400 Horses in
Aurora Meet

Chicago, April 18 (AP)—Members of the 1,400 horse committee of the Illinois Turf Association start an elimination of horses and trotters today in preparation for the opening of the 1927 racing season.

A 2-day meeting will be held there. More than 1,400 horses are expected at the track, which has been rebuilt into a full mile oval. At Aurora, the horses will be divided into two groups, one to be raced at Washington, D. C., and the other to be raced at the track at Aurora.

Jim didn't let the public name his horse. He did the choosing himself. So did Jack Johnson, so did Jess Willard, and so did Jack Dempsey—rather, so did Jack Kearns, Dempsey's behemoth. But it amounts to the same thing.

INTRODUCES NEW PLAN.

Of the group from Sullivan's day down to mine no champion permitted an elimination contest—or a public display to name the form of the fight. I have frankly admitted it was a dangerous procedure.

They lived the glory of being champion—like the idea of pleasure in money fighting "soft ones" as most of them ducked and dodged the toughest of the tough as long as was possible.

But I'm doing things differently— I'm going to make a public display to name the form of the fight. I do so think that a champion should be permitted to choose his man and choose a rival for ring dueling.

For certainly, if he does the like I'll be the one who will avoid the danger of men and choose the "soft ones."

Of course, I like this idea of being champion. I'm hopeful that I can hold the heights through many years. But I'd rather be beaten now, in the public view, than to be beaten in the game, then to hold the title for years through dodging dangerous men and fighting only occasionally against "soft ones."

I'll be a champion in fact—never a champion merely in name. No such was the promise to myself in an obscure little year; so much was my promise to the public when I went from Jack Dempsey. And an athlete will be happy.

Golf Notes

By BILL GRIMES

Weather permitting, neither the Marathon, the Braves, Giants twin bill, nor any other various sporting event, will attract, or rather detract, the golfers tomorrow. The midweek golfers have been warming up for the past month and are all anxious to get out and see just how much they have improved since last season.

Whether the membership for the "San Haven 1927" at Franklin Park is a record or not, it is a record of the best in this section.

Perley F. Crosby of Woodland came to a first start in the first club tournament with his 75 Parlay was out to 20, an exceptionally fast pace. A few more such performances and the powers will be forced to recognize Crosby as one of the leaders of the State.

Watch for the capacity crowds when they place well up in the ranks of the best in this section.

The annual Boston newspaper golf association meeting has been postponed until early next month. This meeting was scheduled for last week but the slim attendance caused a postponement.

Perfect Contour of Your Chin by Care

By Maria Jerlitz.
Prima Donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company and One of the Most Beautiful Women of the Day.
It is the cause of the chin's double chin is a sign of lazy posture rather than advanced age. Do you look often in a mirror?
We women are sometimes accused of being the vain ones. But many a woman would benefit by inspecting herself in her mirror more often and more carefully than she does. When we realize our defects, it is easier to make improvements.
If you will stand before your full-length mirror the moment you arise tomorrow morning, and take an impartial view of yourself in the cold morning light, what you see may give you a distinct shock.
Unless you are very young and very beautiful, you may discover exaggerated curves at your hips and shoulders, sloping shoulders and a neck that droops from your chin in a most unbecoming manner.
Now make yourself "stand tall," as though you were trying to touch with the tip of your head an imaginary hand held about two inches above it. Take a deep breath and look in the mirror again. Do you see improvement in your face and carriage with fewer bulging lines? There is no less tendency toward a double chin? You will find standing as you should stand always.
The cells of your body are renewed every nine months, I believe, according to the latest scientific data. So if you persist in correct posture for nine months, your body will be renewed, and the tendency to sag will be corrected. If you are always well and stand correctly, it is safe to say you have not a double chin. But even though your chin

The Proper Use of Castor Oil

By Chas. A. L. Reed, M. D., Former President of the American Medical Association.
YOU, like most Americans, have doubtless a tendency to constipation and, therefore, a frequent excuse to take some form of purgative.
There is no class of remedies that is more frequently used than the purgatives. It may be well, therefore, to remember a few facts about those in most popular use.
The purgative, a laxative, most in use by people of America is commonly called "salts," or "sodium salts." It is excessively used by being dissolved in plain water or by being added to mineral water. The salts act by attracting fluid into the intestine from the blood by a process called osmosis, and this fluid causes the bowel to contract a sear.
This loss of fluid is sometimes a good thing, but is bad for a young child with its low blood pressure cannot afford to lose much fluid. It sometimes happens also that the fluid is insufficient and the solid matter is left behind. A copious urinary evacuation does not necessarily mean that the bowel is properly cleansed.
Other purgatives act as irritants. Some, for instance, and the bowel empties itself in the effort to get rid of them. These drugs are quite unsuitable for babies, and also for constipation, since the use of any irritant has to be constantly increased.
The most most frequently used purgative is castor oil. It used rightly, it is one of the most valuable of remedies. Unfortunately, it is generally used wrongly. For simple diarrhea it is excellent, for it sweeps out the irritating matter that is responsible for the trouble. After this, however, it soothes the intestine and, if it is not used too much, it is a natural purgative. If the constipation is due to an insufficiency of bile this treatment is good, but if it is not, there is no point in making the liver secrete bile. If the constipation is due to a sluggishness of the liver, person cannot know what his liver is doing until he has been treated only on a doctor's advice.

Children Reduce Quarreling

By WINIFRED BLACK
MARRIED fifty-eight years—and she says they never even quarreled, much less fought. Here's how: Let her tell it.
"We had some children to raise and we hardly had time to breathe. Let me tell you there is no time for quarreling with two girls who have to have their hair combed and two boys who simply will not wash their faces unless you make them do it and two toddlers scratching the table cloth off the table and the dishes with it, and a baby learning to crawl and a sixteen-year-old with housework to do something of the in-between and intermediates.
"Quarrel! I wish I had time to quarrel with my husband; I never did. All I had time to do was to get his meals ready and not keep him waiting.
"Sure, I would have quarreled if I had time. Everybody quarrels: mothers and daughters and fathers and sons and brothers and sisters. Why should husbands and wives be different from everybody else?
"I had a man that wouldn't give me a good quarrel once in a while. I felt like it. Oh, yes, I've felt like quarreling with Charlie a good many times, but just as I was going to get after him the baby would sit down on the cat or somebody would knock over the coffee pot and spill the coffee over the stove—or the teacher would come to the front door to tell me one of the boys had played truant.
"Or a committee from the church would arrive to ask the offertory list to help serve at the church supper. Pohaw! I never had time to get mad and stay mad.
"By the time I was ready to speak my mind, everybody was always busy, and when they got home I'd forgotten all about it. I had a neighbor once, a little bride—she's little now, was, too—just—she was 6 o'clock or, better, 6:30 or 7, and the house after which one may say a divorce for informal divorce. RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELS.
IT is a scene a red, a strange and a cruel one that men should spend their talent hours for gold, should work too hard to have sweet words that sing, too long to watch the difficult unfold. The worth of gold is how the world looks like. Yet, should it sap the budding strength of youth, would make it wither by every act of selfishness. There are but few who can the gold find, but few who know the secret of all would hold of how each heart has deeper, greater need of gold. It is not gold, it is the price you pay for foolish greed which makes them turn our feet away, seek and laughter, wing and sea and sky!

CORRECT MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BECKMAN
DEAR MISS BECKMAN:
I am to be married very shortly and I would like to ask you a few questions.
(1) First I want to know how my wedding invitation should read, as my mother is a widow. Some say it should read, "Mrs. Mary Jones has the honor," etc., and some say, "Mrs. John Henry Jones." Which is correct?
(2) I would like to know what time I should be married for. My intended husband to wear a Tux. He does not like the idea of wearing formal clothes. I think 6 o'clock is proper. Am I right?
FLO.
Q: I am sorry to have a tell you that a Tuxedo is never correct for a wedding. Formal evening clothes are correct.
But you are right in thinking that she should wear the same name as alive. Therefore, "Mrs. John Henry Jones" is correct. "Mrs. Mary Jones" would be very proper form, and I beg your pardon to use it. (By the way, the word honor is spelled "honour" with a u, in a wedding invitation and announcement.)

It is hard to adapt yourself to the requirements of the man over you when you take a new position.

He may not know your line as well as you do, he may have had less experience, but he is paying you.

Because he is paying you for your services he has a right to demand that you do the things he is paying for.

One of the reasons why establishments frequently rule against hiring men of middle age or older is that it is hard for old men to change their minds.

Younger men take up new ideas quicker.

It is an advantage to have help that is easily adaptable.

If you cannot get along with your employer, you must be convinced that you cannot enforce your opinions against the judgment of the man that pays you. Mr. Employer.

The experience which goes with age does not entitle you, Mr. Elderly Employer, to control the man who hires you.

If you want to earn your money you must cooperate as cordially as a younger man in order to win the regard of the man who pays.

“Mother, the magnitude of what has been damned upon them. No less suddenly on Mother herself. She sank back weakly, for once not at all surprised. “You mean that young man, who in their heroic hour (Jimmie well, smiled delightedly) “Oh, then you won't feel badly about my going to the police?” “No, you take care of my garden? No, no, you take your job, children, and I'll take care of my garden.” “But mother, you know the Garden as long as K street headquarters time take care of fifteen hundred for only fifteen?” “Oh, yes, yes, I'm war bright dress, so it'll still be like a garden? Oh, well, then, maybe I'll go.” “The professor” was edging cast down the room. Jimmie held up a detaining hand. “Just a moment, Chick. Blump Blump Blump. I'm not going to be so very impetuously to see you.” “You mean you want to see me?” “Yes, Reamtion, whose ‘con’ game” had caused police of other cities to be so much interested in him. “When an officer of the law steps

MEDBURY SAYS--

By JOHN P. MEDBURY.

HAIRIES are coming back into style and a New York man has opened a service station for whiskers.

HE takes care of your face by the month.

ANT chin looks a whole lot better with a hedge around it.

THIS fellow did most of the land reaping for the Smith Brothers.

OTHER prominent people have him.

ONE man had fallen cheeks and when this guy got through with him, his face looked like a sunken garden.

HIS beard and mustaches are ever-blooming.

THEY blossom the year 'round.

THEY taste he sells as no power! It'll grow hair on marbles.

HE spilled a bottle in the museum the other day and the next morning they had to shave all his statues.

FIFTEEN cents' worth of this stuff will make a pair of B. V. D.'s look like a racoon coat.

HE emptied some of it down the sink last week and now all his pipes are fur lined.

OTHER fellow used it for a garden the other evening and now he has to comb his teeth as well as brush them.

HE rubbed a little of it on his chin and then tripped a car; he heard before he could get to the harbor.

IN one day his whiskers grew so long that he had to carry them under his arm to keep from stepping on them.

HE made the seven Marlboro's sisters look like a lot of ugly headed men.

HE went out to the country of late Sunday and nineteen birds had nests in his beard.

WHISKERS are a splendid decoration and if you have a map the only mother could love, this fellow will work on it and turn it into a face that everybody can enjoy.

Four-year-old Russell had been naughty and his father had spanked him. Russell came to me with the following:

"Mamma, when I grow to be a big man and Daddy grows to be a little boy, I shall have to spank him, as he does me now."

THE MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE--BY HELEN ROWLAND

THE greatest proof of man's romantic nature or of woman's irresistible charm is that men can go right on falling in love with us in spite of our grannies, our attended hair, and the inverted buckets we wear for hats!

Now we know, at last, that men love us for ourselves ALONE!

The old-fashioned girl never knew whether it was the "lace at her throat" or the curl at the nape of her neck that made a man want to kiss her.

But WE modern women know that there is nothing about a sun-burned throat and a shaved neck that tempts a man's lips beyond his strength, or makes him glidy with emotion.

Nay, verily, Man continues to kiss woman because he can't HELP himself.

Mother couldn't know whether it was the charms of her frivolous provocative rires, the swish of her rustling silk petticoat or the tantalizing glimpse of her ankle that made a man want to follow her.

"But the girl of today knows that there is nothing about her mannish wrap-around, her flat, boyish outline and her frankly displayed underpinning, to arouse a man's curiosity and cause him to "obey that impulse."

He follows her in SPIRIT of those things, because he is hopelessly under the spell of LOVE--and always will be!

Mother didn't know whether it was the arrangement of her "growing glory," the line of the limb in her eyes, or the coquettish rove in her hair, that impelled a man to glance after her and made him shaggy heart go pipe-a-pot.

But her daughter knows that it is not her exposed ears or her straight uncompromising side-burns that enthrall his gaze. And as for the light that lies in woman's eyes, it is completely hidden under an inverted washbasinet which she pulls down over her brow in the guise of a hat!

Not Woman has proved that she can denude herself of all the "first aids" to feminine charm, and still keep men falling in love with her!

He is attracted to her as the meek to the strong, because she is WOMAN, and Nature's complement to himself. He can no more deny his power than he can deny the law of Gravity.

Woman may paint herself up to resemble a modernist, point, disguise herself to look like a boy, and bent herself down to a living shell--and still man will swoon her as something he can't do without.

Man can't help falling in love with woman!

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment--clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Take you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy don't care feeling, no motion or energy trouble with undigested food!

Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for constipation. Buy what you like, 50c, 1.00, 2.00, 5.00.

"Sweetest of the soul"--for there is nothing else left of us but our skin rages!

It's a walk-away!

Kill that skin eruption at the start

Not even the slightest skin rash, roughness, or chafing may have serious consequences. Pimples, disfiguring comedones like eczema, urticaria, etc., all start in a small way.

The safest plan is to keep a jar of Neosol Ointment ready to use at the first sign of skin trouble. It promptly stops itching and reduces inflammation and burning. The tiny pores readily receive this soothing ointment, and its healing influence is carried far below the surface of the skin.
